FULL STEAM AHEAD FOR BURY PRIDE

Choo-choose love... The East Lancashire Railway showed its colours for this year's Bury Pride celebrations.

This weekend, one of the heritage railway's iconic steam engines waved the PRIDE flag for a journey like no other across the stunning 12-mile Irwell Valley track.

The sold out sensational steamer departed from Bury's Bolton Street Station on an all singing, all dancing adventure.

In association with Groundwork Ambition for Aging and The East Lancashire Railway, the event featured the amazing Jess Kemp doing her critically acclaimed acoustic set at one end of the train, while the one and only Miss Vivienne Lynsey hosted a show tune sing-a-long at the other.
